

A CELESTIAL HORDE.

Hiding in Sequestered Nooks, Ready for the Break.

ONLY ONE MORE RIVER TO CROSS.

Should the Chinese Exclusion Act Only Expire Tuesday Night.

THE AGGREGATION SPREAD ITSELF

A Possible Show for the Agents of the Government to Get in and do Likewise.

DETROIT, April 29.—The woods are full of Chinese over in Canada. It is said the denizens of the Flowery Kingdom, in large numbers, are dodging behind trees and hiding in sequestered nooks, ready to make a break for the United States the minute the clock strikes 12 on the night of 3d. They all firmly believe that on May 4th the Chinese exclusion act will expire, and they hope to slip into the United States before the law now under consideration in congress can be put into effect.

The Last Duel.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Yesterday another duel was reported "between Millbank and a Frenchman," as the outcome of the Drayton-Borrowe scandal. Later report confirms the fact. The Frenchman was the Duc de Morny, who was wounded and may not recover. It is thought Millbank had no intention of killing the duke. On the other hand, it is said, De Morny aimed for Millbank's head, intending to kill him, and missed only by a hair's breadth.

Somebody Pinched.

LONDON, April 28.—Large sale of American railroad securities in the last day or two indicated that somebody is in difficulty, but the brokers are unable to ascertain whether the parties are inside or outside of the stock exchange. It is supposed that whoever it was managed to get assistance, as the settlement closed without a failure. A decidedly better feeling now prevails, and business for the new account is brisker.

Emin Pasha Still Lives.

ZANZIBAR, April 29.—Advices from the interior of Africa say that Dr. Stuhlmann, who was with the detachment of Emin Pasha's expedition, last reported marching on Bukoba, reached that place February 15. The march from Wadelai to Bukoba was greatly hindered by famine and disease. Emin Pasha is reported ill, and is following Stuhlmann from Wadelai by easy stages.

Gen. Alger's Chances.

DETROIT, May 2.—A prominent republican who was supposed to have something to do with the slight to Gen. Alger, in reply to a complaint from one of Alger's friends yesterday said: "Gen. Alger's chances for the presidency seem to have wandered away to the political horizon and tumbled off. Mr. Harrison's boom appears to be attending strictly and quietly to the business of accumulating a wood-pile."

Disgraceful Troops.

LONDON, April 29.—A dispatch from Peshawar, India, says the troops of the ameer of Afghanistan acted outrageously, respecting neither party nor womankind. The men of three villages attacked, and severely defeated the troops, who, at last reports, were holding out against annihilation behind barricades. Reinforcements are being hurried forward to their aid.

Dakota Divorces.

BROOKLYN, May 2.—William C. Bolton, of the Bolton drug company, got tired of his wife and went to Dakota, obtained a divorce and married again. His wife sued him for divorce, which has been granted by the Supreme court. Judge Pratt declared the Dakota divorce to be worthless, which would render the second marriage bigamous. Bolton did not defend the suit.

Antidote for Whiskey.

HELENA, Mont., May 2.—The richest mineral ever found in Montana is reported from Bonnard in the Little Rock district. The vein is eight inches thick and assays from $2,000 to $20,000 per ton. The ore is fairly streaked with ruby silver. Reports of rich discoveries of gold continue to come from the Little Rockies southeast of Chinoak. A ton of surface or float ore from the mines yielded over $600 in bullion. A stream of water coming from one mine is said to cure the taste for liquor and is named Bichloride of Gold spring.

The Argentine Republic.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—No proposal has been or likely will be made for a treaty between the United States and the Argentine republic. The report that a secret agreement exists whereby Uruguay guarantees to provide a naval depot for the American navy is contradicted. The United States has invited various South American republics, including the Argentine republic, to establish a commercial league. A discussion of the proposal is about to take place in the Argentine congress.

THE MORMON TEMPLE

After Thirty-Nine Years the Massive Structure is Finished.

TENACITY OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

Remarkable Results of Their Pioneer

Co-operation in Utah.

SURVEY OF THE MORMON FUTURE

Another Generation Must Pass Before Statehood Can be Trusted to the People.

SALT LAKE CITY, May 2.—April 30th and May 1st, 1892, will pass into history as memorable days in Utah. Thirty-nine years after its inception the capstone of the Mormon temple at Salt Lake City has been laid. The record of mormonism since this huge religious edifice was begun by Brigham Young a generation ago is of great interest. In the erection of the temple $3,000,000 has been spent. Viewed solely as a religious sect the "latter-day saints" have had a tenacity of purpose and a virility in action that have produced marvellous results. Apart from their peculiar rites, their belief in polygamy and their frequent conflict with the United States laws, their pioneer labors in the development of Utah have had remarkable results. On the completion of its great temple, mormonism doubtless takes an inventory of the present and a survey of the future. Most of its pioneer leaders are gone and a majority of the younger prophets desire no more conflicts with the gentiles. The territory has largely passed under the control of men of American sentiment. The suppression of polygamy by law is no longer openly resisted. But the mormon sentiment is still the ruling force in Utah, and those who say it is dead are superficial investigators. Another generation may have to come and go before the American people will feel safe in intrusting sovereign statehood to Utah. Meanwhile the mormons will worship peacefully in their great temple at Salt Lake, their harmless symbolic rites being freely tolerated by a government that is bound to suppress polygamy.

Still Harping.

OTTAWA, Ont. April 29.—In the house of commons yesterday a bill to renew the modus vivendi was read a third time and passed.

Thomas B. Knaggs filed a petition in the circuit court at Indianapolis, recently asking that he be permitted to change his name to Thomas B. West. He says he has no intention of defrauding anyone or of avoiding any responsibilities, but his name is a burden which he can no longer bear. His friends, he says, have tortured it into everything else but Knaggs, and upon being introduced to ladies at parties and entertainments, he is horrified to hear himself called "Jags," "Bags," "Kaggs," "Snaggs" and even "Rags," and this occurs so often that nothing but a change of name can supply a permanent remedy. How different it is out here in the wild and woolly west where the venerable Geo. H., has borne his name with dignity and honor since the time he came over from Ireland with Sir Walter Raleigh.

Some time last week J. H. Spoonmore plowed up a skeleton on his farm near the head of Sherar's grade. It appears to be the remains of a white person, perhaps 40 or 50 years of age, as all of the front teeth are gone and the back teeth are considerably worn. All who have seen it say it is not the remains of an Indian. Mr. Spoonmore is at a loss what to do about it. He says the law does not allow him to remove or disturb it and he cannot plow the ground any depth without he plows it up.

Secretary Blaine appeared before the senate committee on commerce yesterday and made a strong argument opposing the pending resolution authorizing the landing of the French cable on the shores of Virginia and South Carolina. His objection was because the French cable company, co-operating with the Brazilian government, had an absolute monopoly of the cable privileges between the United States and Brazil, and if the resolution passed, the negotiations looking to the procurement of a concession to the American cable company to enter Brazil would come to naught. The secretary appeared to be in excellent health, and made his argument with spirit and emphasis.

"Portland first, Chicago next," is the way Col. R. W. Mitchell announces the opening of the Portland Industrial exposition, September 21st next. It will close October 22d, 1892. The display of wealth in the horticultural department in 1891 attracted marked attention, especially from the large number of eastern visitors who attended the exposition. It did a world of good and the effect is still being felt all along the line.

Within the past few days the Indian police have driven almost 1,000 head of cattle belonging to whites off the diminished Umatilla reservation. As there is barely enough pasturage for Indian herds on the reservation there is likely to be trouble if white men do not keep their cattle on their own ranges.

The practice ship Bancroft, built for the Annapolis cadets, has been launched at Elizabeth, New Jersey.

Macaulay's Power.

Impressions are conveyed in writing by appeals to the imagination of the reader. The successful writer brings a picture before the mind, and the related knowledge may be like the frame to set off the picture, or like new rays of light thrown upon the canvas to give it vividness. The value of this related knowledge is well illustrated in Macaulay's description of the trial of Warren Hastings. He throws upon the description the light of his vast erudition. He stimulates the imagination by all these side lights, enchaining the attention, so that we see as in a picture that brilliant assemblage, and we are filled with admiration of the scene.

He conjures up the historian of Rome and the eventful history of the eternal city; he reveals his acquaintance with art in his happy allusion to Reynolds, and his acquaintance with the recent achievements of literature in his familiarity with the researches of Parr, at that time famous; he displays his knowledge of the inner workings of society and the intrigues by which thrones are shaken and dynasties are overthrown in his reference to the salon of Mrs. Montague and the fair haired daughters of the house of Brunswick; and he shows his appreciation of the drama by recalling Siddons, who, "in the prime of her majestic beauty, looked with emotion on a scene surpassing all the imitations of the stage."—Educational Review.

Look for the Key.

Don't get angry at small things. Look at vexations now as you will view them thirty days from date. The angry man, who gets the wrong key and pushes and rattles the door till he breaks the lock, loses more time than if he had quietly gone for the right key, and pays for a new lock besides.—New York Recorder.

The delegates to Minneapolis from New York include Messrs. Hiscock, Platt, Depew and Miller, "the big four." In Ohio, the fight for delegates to Minneapolis between the friends of Foraker and Sherman was settled by an arrangement to nominate McKinley, Foraker, Bushnell and Hahn, thus dividing evenly. In Alabama two republican conventions (split) were held, and two sets of delegates chosen. One set is instructed for Harrison, and the other set is uninstructed.

CON STIPATION.

Afflicts half the American people yet there is only one preparation of Sarsaparilla that acts on the bowels and reaches this important trouble, and that is Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. It relieves it in 24 hours, and an occasional dose prevents return. We refer by permission to C. E. Elkington, 125 Locust Avenue, San Francisco; J. H. Brown, Petaluma; H. S. Winn, Geary Court, San Francisco, and hundreds of others who have used it in constipation. One letter is a sample of hundreds. Elkington writes: "I have been for years subject to bilious headaches and constipation. Have been so bad for a year back have had to take a physic every other night or else I would have a headache. After taking one bottle of J. V. S., I am in splendid shape. It has done wonderful things for me. People similarly troubled should try it and be convinced."
